

Slain man's car is found by police

Police have recovered a car owned by a man who was found murdered in Dorchester Friday night, police sources said last night. Rufus Thomas's brown 1990 Cadillac Seville was found yesterday at an undisclosed location, and homicide detectives were dusting the car for fingerprints, the sources said. Thomas was found dead at about 8 p.m. Friday inside the [REDACTED] apartment complex at [REDACTED] near [REDACTED] in Fields Corner. His car had been reported missing shortly after his body was found.