ON THE SCENE NITE & FANTASY FASHION FETISH NITE at the QUEEN MARY SHOW LOUNGE

One of the great joys in my life is putting out an invitation to all my dear friends to attend a party. This month has to be one of the most important ones this year for me as I invite you to the seventh anniversary of the "On The Scene Nite" parties.

Over the years, so many of my dearest friendships have started on these party nights. I recall that when the event first started, I wondered if the community would enjoy and attend. Needless to say, that was then and this is now and this event is known around the world as a "must" attend. My dear friend Liya Quest made up a wonderful full page flyer and you can find it in this publication. Wear that flowery print dress or even a mumu, sarong or kimono. The theme is Hawaiian luau and hopefully we shall have a few hula-hula girls to entertain us.

Plenty of fun this month and I will be at the door looking forward to greeting you. Have to say a "big" thank you to the folks at "Pathway Communications," Robert and the great staff at the "Queen Mary," the folks at "Versatile Fashions," and all the friends who have helped me make my "On The Scene Nite" affair a fun and comfortable one. A night where a lady can go and have an enjoyable evening "en-femme." Where you can meet, sit down or enjoy a fling on the dance floor. Meet friends old and new and check out the show, maybe meet someone special. Most of all I want to "thank" everyone who has attended the parties because in the essence of it all you are the ones who account for the popularity and success.

Over the years I have encouraged ladies to try new looks and styles. A visit to a new make-up artist or a new wig with a radically different style can make an evening special. Last night I decided to pamper myself and called Jim Bridges for a make-over. Third Saturday of the month, and I decided to hit the "Back Bar" and kick back. I planned an uneventful evening of schmoozing and possibly taking a few photos for a lady that I can feature on the cover. Jim had his nine o'clock cancel so I told him I would be there a little early. I just had my two wigs cleaned and styled so I was all set and little me in drab (dressed as boy) headed up to Jim Bridges.

Half way through my make-over Jim informed me in no uncertain terms that my wig box would not be opened this evening. Mr. Beauty as I refer to him, was going to put some klieg lights on my parade. A new look for Ms. Lacie as it was time and isn't this what it is all about? Having fun and doing something exciting. Before Jim put the head "O" hair on me he spun my chair around so I could not see my new look in the mirror. Two of the ladies in the shop were amused as they watched me endure these moments of anticipation. As Jim worked, cutting a little bit of bang off and styling the wig the girls made complimentary comments, "You are going to like it!" and "Looks hot!" I was in shock when Jim spun the chair and I consumed the image reflected. I was thrown off at first and was very unsure until I relaxed and did a little mirror posing. Needless to say, the compliments were coming fast and my night was champagne and caviar.

Jim made my night and now I have to get busy so he can teach me what he did. I have been doing my own make-up for years. When

with Marlayna Lacie

I met Jim he taught me a lot, but I did not do everything he did. So I am going to spend an afternoon with Jim and have him show and teach me to get the look he gave me. Mr. Bridges mentioned that he has noticed that over the last few years I have been dressing more conservatively. I had to agree with him, my red dress days are pretty much over. I wear my walking shoes to photo shoots and then they go back in the box.

When Jackie Kennedy passed away it brought back a flood of childhood memories for me. As a teenager I was a Jackie watcher and I loved it when she started wearing "haute couture" fashions. Ones that were designed for her to present a very special image. Understated elegance with class and style, and I soon found myself looking for that. This was a new look and also I found that I was passing more and more. I even picked up dresses that were not very hostessy. A hostess at a club has a certain image and that is something I know well. Most of my wardrobe is made up of party dresses and outfits. So a long sleeved full length flowery print dress comes across as kind of subdued. I love it as I like to present a wide variety of looks and I also pass better on the street in the flower print. Jim is going to be at "California Dreaming" and I plan on having him "DO" me. I like sitting in the chair and having my make-up done for me. A special treat when one finds or is gifted with a new look. Thanks Jim. Last year a good friend asked me to consider this, "You go to parties and events and every time it is for your agenda, it seems that you never go out just to have fun! So have you ever thought that maybe at this point your missing the fun?" A good point and said with the best of intentions, and yes, it gave me pause and I have thought about it. I wonder if you can say that over "X" amount of years being an active crossdresser has not changed and/or refocused many of your feelings and needs. Seven years ago I started writing this column as a way to do something I wanted to do. Since I was a teenager I always wanted to be a writer. The idea of being able to write and connect with other crossdressers like myself thrilled me. I always felt that we were special and also that we needed each other. I knew nothing of events like "California Dreaming" and "Dressed to Thrill." I had been reading a few TV publications and found that many had nothing to offer. It seems like just the other evening, when I loaded up my car with a bunch of complimentary TV Epics and goodies for a buffet for my first party. I realize that over the years I have had a slow mellow mental transfiguration. I never felt that I was writing to strangers as I look upon all of you as my dear friends under a huge umbrella. Each section a different color and pattern.

Last year I started to verbalize my feelings about the gender and the gay communities. How we should consider joining them in the effort to gain respect and to end laws and practices in any form that discriminate. Yours truly visited events like "Dragstrip 66" because I feel that those who enjoy "macho drag" are part of the community also. Many may not agree with what they do, but we damn well better be prepared to defend their right to do it. Next week there is a party and I can also go to a midnight premiere of a "drag" movie and mingle with my friends in Hollywood. This event is a star studded affair with all the top queens in tinseltown attending. Most likely I will pass on the party in Orange County and load up my camera. Am I missing the fun and have I become a monster? I do not know as it is hard to answer such questions. I do know that yes, I have changed and I am enjoying life and having more fun than I ever imagined!

We have three hundred and sixty four evenings to enjoy in the year and then we have the night the Oscars are presented. The credits for the show are still rolling and I feel more than ever that there is "No business like show business!" More than best movie and all, I enjoyed the collage of scenes from the many enjoyable movies that veteran actor, Kirk Douglas starred in. The "Lifetime Achievement Award" is one of the real gifts that are awarded. A joy to see Kirk get recognition and to see his son Michael Douglas weeping was very moving. Gene Kelly will always be remembered for giving us "Singing In The Rain." Watching him dance through the many films he did was fun and when it rains again sing a few lines and remember Gene and what a fabulous career he had. Many cried with joy as Christopher Reeves talked to the audience. One could feel pity but when you looked in his eyes it told us a different story. He was happy, and his ongoing standing ovation most likely had many people throughout this country stand up and clap too. Ever since I went to see "Leaving Las Vegas," starring Oscar winner Nicholas Cage, I had him picked as "Best Actor." I also realized that since I went I have not had more than half a dozen cocktails and that was two months ago. I have never had a drinking problem and never will, but his performance touched me deeply. During his acceptance speech Mr. Cage challenged the industry. Hollywood has to do more, was his theme and one of the things he said. To me it meant that the industry should look for more original screenplays instead of rewrites. It would also be nice to have drag queens and crossdressers portraying themselves. Why do we have to see straight men playing roles that members of the gender community should be doing? No men in dresses on stage for us, but we did have the quickly rising to fame Nathan Hale from, "The Birdcage." Hostess Whoopi Goldberg mentioned that before the show she ran into Nathan and he was wearing the same dress she had on. Someone had to take it off so Nathan came out in a tuxedo. Would have been better if he had the dress on and so it goes.

Reading and writing, and it seems that once a week I am buying a new book on crossdressing, gender or show business. This week I got a phone call from "By The Book" (formerly "Chelsea Bookstore"). The package from "Columbia University Press" in New York had arrived. My copy of "Attack of the Leading Ladies Gender," "Sexuality," and "Spectatorship in Classic Horror Cinema" was waiting for me. Written by Rhona J. Berenstein, an assistant professor in the program in film studios at the "University of California," Irvine. Her articles on Horror Cinema, Television History, and Lesbianism in Hollywood have appeared in such forums as Camera Obscura, Film History, and The Journal of Popular Culture. I have read the first 24 pages so far and it is wonderful. The lady can write and one interesting thing is that this book was and is part of her coming out process as a lesbian. Here we go because I'm gonna give you the copy of the back cover and then I'll get back to you.

From the earliest days of Hollywood sound productions, horror proved to be a popular and lucrative genre. At the center of the industries first cycle of horror films was the terrified woman. Eyes straining and mouth open wide as she emitted an ear-piercing scream, the damsel in distress awaited rescue from the monsters' horrible attentions...or so it seemed.

The first book to explore the gender dynamics of classic horror film, "Attack of the Leading Ladies" addresses the roles of women both on and off-screen. Combining close textual analysis with the study of advertising campaigns, reviews, fan magazines, and censorship materials, Rhona J Berenstein presents an in-depth look at such films as "Bride of Frankenstein", "Dr XU, "Dracula", "King Kong", "Mad Love", "Svengali", and "White Zombie".

Using performance analysis in new ways, "Attack of the Leading Ladies" challenges established views of horror cinema that suggest a rigid sexual division of labor, with men as monsters, heroes, and viewers, and women as on-screen victims. Berenstein details a genre marked by shifting gender roles. Monsters, heroes, and heroines, she asserts, do more than fulfill traditional expectations...they also throw into question the stability of gender categories and the supremacy of heterosexuality.

Building on the concept of the and the more recent notion of a 'masochistic male gaze', Berenstein addresses the complex spectatorship patterns posed by a genre so concerned with role-play and disguise, a genre that appealed to men and women viewers in the 1930s. "Attack of the Leading Ladies" offers a new model of spectatorship, 'as drag'...where the viewing process itself becomes a mode of performance, and where spectators adopt and discard both traditional and transgressive viewing behaviors.

Berensteins' paradigm of spectatorship, and her combination of textual and historical analysis, is both an important extension of, and a fascinating departure from, key work in feminist film studies and gay and lesbian studies. The first in-depth analysis of early sound horror film. "Attack of the Leading Ladies" offers an exciting new way of looking at the movies.

"Attack of the Leading Ladies" is a book that I have on my "must have" list and I highly recommend it.

We all know that boutiques and specialty shops catering to our community are few and far between. So it is refreshing when a new shop or new blood at an established venue takes place. Now we can add a new name to the growing list of vendors in the local area. I am pleased to announce the grand opening of "Nighty's & Naughties" (formerly "Fantasy Lingerie"). The business is now being run by a really great couple, Ron and Tamara. Tamara is Jeri's daughter who is the former owner of "Fantasy Lingerie." Have to mention that I have been personally involved in assisting Tamara with getting the shop set up. They have done a complete make-over with new carpeting, lighting, and plenty of new displays and shelves. Stocked and filled with all those fun, frilly, and oh so sexy items that we all need. Yes, there will be a beautician on the staff so you can book transformation and learn how to do your own make-over at the same time. Yes, they will be carrying TV Epic along with a great selection of crossdressing publications. Yours truly, will be putting together a list of local events along with the names of a few of those "kinky verlinky" parties that are hard to find. These will only be available at "Naughty's & Nighties." Mention that you read about the store in TV Epic and receive a 15% discount on merchandise. You also may find that you picked the envelope with free admission to the spectacular celebrity female impersonator revue at the world famous "Queen Mary Show Lounge." "Nighty's & Naughties" is located at 16112 Harbor Boulevard in Fountain Valley. You can contact them by calling (714) 775-8356. Have to mention that they carry a great selection of fetish hi heels that one can find now where else.

While your shopping in Orange County, check out "Versatile Fashions Boutique" for those custom made items we all love. Yes, find your "skin two" and more at "Versatile Fashions" located at 1925 E. Lincoln Boulevard (near "State College") in Anaheim. Their phone number is (714) 776-1510. Tell manager Jim Thompson, that Ms. Lacie told you about the fabulous fetish fashions and accessories available.

Then for a special treat head over to "Dressed To Thrill" boutique and studio. So you you want to be a star? Well my dear, you must first have the wardrobe to stake out that territory. "Dressed To Thrill" specializes in custom corsetry, stiletto boots and shoes, along with exotic fashions. Plenty of exciting dresses and skirts, and I have my eyes on a few. I was at the boutique today and Mistress Antionette and her charming staff have outdone themselves as usual.

In a few weeks I will be flying up to San Francisco to attend Powder Puffs; "California Dreaming 96" affair. First of all I want to thank the folks at "Pathway" for sending me to cover the event. When I write about my community it breaks down to being involved with many dear friends. Southern California is my home and many ladies in "Powder Puffs" are very special to me. It is reasonable to ask, "How can Marlayna be part of all of this if she is running around tinseltown most of her time?" Well, my reply is that my personal agenda and career focus have changed. My love, devotion, and commitment to my community has only grown stronger with more conviction.

A month before my trip to New Orleans I mentioned to Melissa Foster that I was going. She told me that she had a friend named Carla who lived near the French quarter. A few evenings later Carla and I had a chance to chat and plans were made for us to get together. When I arrived in New Orleans, I had to go to the convention center to set up the "Spartacus" booth for the show. When I finished Karl picked me up at the hotel and gave me the grand tour of the town. Come to find out that Melissa had never met our friend as they were pen and phone pals. Our common bond being that we are all men who crossdress and consider ourselves members of the community.

Look for complete coverage of this year's "California Dreaming 96" affair as myself and Jim Bridges will be covering this event for TV Epic. You can also look forward to photo coverage of a very special party that took place at the "Queen Mary Show Lounge." A very famous transsexual adult video star threw a transsexual party in the "Front Room Show Lounge." Yours truly was there to get the hot and titillating photos of some of the sexiest T's in town partying. This along with another fabulous cover photo and I will see you at the party.

Love and peace,
Marlayna

HOLLY WOODLAWN

A CLASSIC CABARET ACT...”

Holly Woodlawn: A Lady Who Must Be Seen!

This month it is a very special treat for me to present a lady who is once again, “A Legend In Her Own Time.” Yes, Holly flew into New York and things have not been the same since. Holly is well known for her infamous performances in a number of Andy Warhol movies. Who will ever forget her ragged, jagged, and hypnotic performance in “TRASH.” Time stands still for no one, but it certainly does one thing and that is never to waiver. Holly has kept on course and that is wonderful because we need ladies like her to make us feel good.

I was told that in many ways we live out our fantasies through the lives of celebrities. How many of you would like to take off on the high road and leave your “Brook Brothers” behind? Trading or tricking them in for a pair of shiny black leather lovelies and a hot number from “DKNY.” Miss Woodlawn is still with us and last time I checked she was still performing at “Club Checca.”

So once again, it is a pleasure to present to you my dear friend, the one and only Holly Woodlawn. And “Hey Babe, Take A Walk On The Wild Side.” Hit “Club Checca” on a Tuesday night and see her for yourself. You will love the show and the lovely lady on stage will entertain your pantyhose off!

Dealing with Coming Out

by Marlayna Lacie

Over the years I have written to you about many of my experiences as I live my life as a transgendered person. I think like you, many of you, and I am looking for friends with insight and other resources to help me. Years ago, when I first started writing, I used the term, "A thousand points of light." My feeling was that groups like "Powder Puffs" of California and "TRI-ESS" were all similar to those beacons in the dark. My main focus in those days was to find a new "party" dress for the next affair and going to private parties. As many of you know, years ago I recognized and embraced our community. Thing is that I have come to see that in many ways many of you perceive me as having a light house of my own. Well, at this point I have no problem with that. Over the years I have built up a library of information on crossdressing, the transgendered community, and gender related issues. I am always happy to help someone with a question or who needs information on groups and events. The great gift that comes with being a writer is that it gives one a very personal vehicle to reach out and touch someone.

Every so often I receive a letter that goes in the "special" file. One that touches me and also tells me that I am connecting and doing good. Yes, we all need strokes and yours truly is no exception. So I want to share this letter with you.

Dear Marlayna,

I had to write to thank you for your recent column describing you shaving your legs. I have been dressing and Bi for years, but I never shaved. After I read about you I went ahead and used Nair all over. It worked great on my legs and arms. I shaved the rest; chest, underarms, and part of my pubic area. Honey, it's great! My thigh highs stay up! I can finally wear pearl or light hose. Thanks girl.

I'm a 39 year old D/W/TV, (don't you love those codes)? I'm blonde and blue eyed, 5'11", and 175 lbs., (trying to lose weight to 150 lbs., or less). Since I'm 39 I figure I have about 10 more years to pass as a sexy "gal." I'm Bi and loving it. It's a wonderful lifestyle. I wish I had started earlier than the last five years.

I'm hoping to get to California in June for two weeks. I'm looking forward to exploring the scene in LA with a few days in San Francisco. Hope to see you and the Queen Mary then.

Keep up the good work. I just renewed my subscription for another year. Please write.

*Your buckeye slut,
Jonelle*

P.S. Still shaving? Once you do it's hard to stop, isn't it?

Honey, I will always be shaving my legs and most likely you will too! Thing is we all have to start somewhere and then it's one big adventure in hose and heels.

At a recent party a lady came up to me and told me that after she read my piece about going to "Disneyland," she called up and reserved a ticket for her and a friend. It is these little comments and kind words that are so important.

The more you go out, the more you realize that we are all in this together. We belong to something very special and that is "The Largest Support Group in the World." I believe this with all my heart. You and I are very special because we can enjoy and experience the masculine and the feminine. What a joy and a blessing and we are so lucky to enjoy the best of both worlds. Then again, only you and I know that this brings us two suitcases to carry. Extra weight and baggage that we accept as part of the journey. It comes in a two tier package.

The physical part is the wig boxes and carry bags along with all the hardware (accessories) that come with getting all dolled up. Then we have the emotional and psychological baggage that can weigh one down more than all the gold in "Fort Knox." Again only men who crossdress like you and I know and can relate to the joys of the nights out and all is champagne and roses.

The times that things are not as they should be or as one would like are when feelings are flying like a grinding wheel and friends are aliens and your all alone. The mornings of putting away the not so pretty and sexy head "O" hair. So the scent of Paloma Piccassa's flowery potion comes and goes, and so do the good times and the bad. Bottom line is that come middle of the week those feelings come a calling. They never actually left cause there ain't nothing that comes close to the joy and high that the transformation gives. A special magic to me and you, and a silky satin and leather padded path to a new world. Through it all we still have our realities which are just as real as the night before and this brings us both to the same place again and again. That is the common dance floor where we do the longest boogie woogie steps in our lives. Done to a heavy sexy high heeled song called,

"Dealing With Coming Out."

YOUNG, Trainable, feminine TV-TS on hormones, have developed small tender breasts. Wish to live as a female someday. Here she was, on-stage and holding the attention of every person in the club. The waters were slow this evening because they were wrapped up watching the lady belt out a well known Striesand tune. There are few who attain and carry the title, "A legend in her own time." Miss Woodlawn is a survivor with a capital "S" and she carries that title with grace, dignity, and one hell of a sense of humor. When Holly finished her one woman cabaret show at "Club Checca," I sat back and watched as her fans and admirers engulfed her. Like a flock of seagulls going after a favorite tasty, they hurried around her. Wanting her attention, time, autograph, and of course a photo. What a treat it was to watch and enjoy this ritual of adulation and respect.

Ever since New York rocker, Lou Reed first penned the infamous song that starts out telling the story of Holly's ride on a bus from Florida to the Big City. People having been singing those famous lines and using the line, "Hey Babe, take a walk on the wild side, and the colored girls go!" Ms. Woodlawn has been getting more notoriety lately due to her fabulous cabaret show at "Club Checca." Also because her talents are blossoming and her best selling book, "A Low Life In High Heels" has gotten rave reviews. Recently, an independent film producer picked up the book and look for a movie.

Like Jackie at the "Apollo" this lady is moving and on the go, go, go! For me it was a special occasion to sit down and chat with the one and only surviving "superstar" that the artist/producer Andy Warhol created. Yes, Andy built "The Factory" and kept most of the money. He also did a wonderful job finding creative and talented people, and provided a stage for them. Lucky for us that Holly is still here with us in the nineties and climbing those stairs to the spotlight. Ladies and gentlemen, it is a pleasure to share a few moments with the charming Holly Woodlawn with you.

Marlayna: Your show was fabulous, how long have you been performing at "Club Checca?"

Holly: Well, I have been here since December.

Marlayna: How did you get the gig, through an agency or?

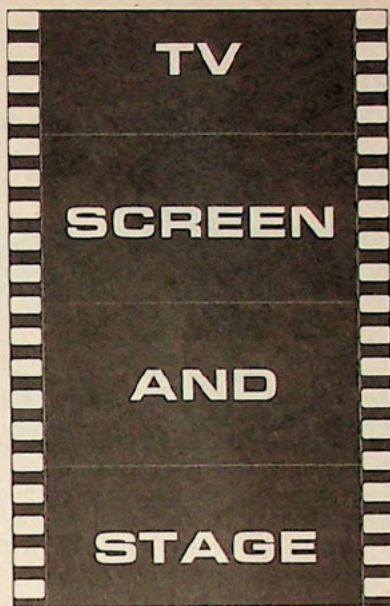

Holly: I got it myself as I know the people who run the club. I love to work this room and it is the only room that reminds me of New York and New York cabaret, and to me it's the best room in LA. The ambiance, the whole thing. You can come here and feel comfortable and you are treated fabulous. The food is fabulous and everything is fabulous, and it is all wonderful. You know there are a lot of places in Los Angeles that have no class.

Marlayna: How do you feel about the new revival in the "drag" scene with movies like "To Wong Foo," and all that?

Holly: I think it's about time that people finally appreciate and realize that quote, unquote, "drag queens" or transvestites, whatever. That there's talent, not only that there's talent, but that there's depth as well. That people are human beings, that they're not jokes.

Marlayna: Yes, we finally are starting to be taken seriously.

Holly: Right, so I am really happy about it. The only thing that I am unhappy about is that straight men are playing drag queens. Well honey, I think drag queens should play themselves dear. You know what I'm saying?

Marlayna: Oh yes, I hear that! Let's see, I'd like to hear a little story about New York or something about Andy Warhol, something that rings a bell or that is on your mind.

Holly: Well, tonight is on my mind and the fact that I'm doing the show and all my friends have shown up. Mary Woronov who starred in "Chelsea Girls" and Udo Kier who played "Dracula" in all of Andy's movies. Alexis De Lago is here and of course we are all from New York. We're all transplanted New Yorkers and we all hang out and have our own little community, colony. We worked New York and now it is time for all the twenty year olds to do that. I was living out here and then Mary Woronov who did "Chelsea Girls" and all those Warhol movies came out. Then Udo who was fantastic when he played "Dracula" for Andy. Well, we are all here. Too bad Joe De Alesandro couldn't be here tonight, then it would be like total family.

We take a half minute break as a group of Holly's friends are leaving and are complimenting her along with a barrage of "Good night, dahling!" I have seen Holly perform before and after her show you feel like you have made a new friend, and you have.

Marlayna: I am so curious, how did Jackie Curtis die?

Holly: She died from an overdose of heroin, it was really sad because no one not even me knew that she was doing heroin. I mean who knew?

Marlayna: Yes, I have a few friends and I found out that they do that, and it's terrible.

Holly: Do you believe this stuff? Kids are doing these horrible drugs. It's insane!

Marlayna: Did you hear that Jayne County and her band, "The Electric Chairs" are playing the "Viper Room" on Valentine's night?

Holly: Oh yeah, she's coming to town, I know and I plan on going. Jayne and I used to live together, another member of the family.

Marlayna: Well, I will see you there as I am on the "guest list" as I have an interview lined up with Jayne. O.K. let's wrap it up, so what are your future plans? I know your going to keep performing here and see where this goes.

Holly: Oh yes, to me this is my home. I love this room and you know it's building up, more people are coming in. The main thing is I wrote the screenplay to my book, "A Low Life In High Heels." So I'm pushing that.

Marlayna: Well, I will be interested in a part.

Holly: Of course you will dahling, we'll all be in the movie, the whole thing. One thing about me, where I go all my friends go, everybody comes with me.

Marlayna: You know in my last column in TV Screen & Stage I mentioned that I had been hanging out with you folks from New York, and that this writer from Boston felt very comfortable with your group.

Holly: Well, we love your company dahling and there's a whole group from Boston sitting in the next room. Yes, David Gregory and his friends, I did a movie with him. I will introduce you in a bit.

Marlayna: Well, how does it look for your movie?

Holly: Actually very positive, very positive because you know why? When it comes right down to it, "You gotta do it yourself!" So I'm pushin' it and I'm very excited. Listen to me, I sound like "Miss America" or something.

Marlayna: No, you have done something and your proud of it.

Holly: I really am and I'm glad about what I did, the fact that I wrote the book and now I just finished the screenplay. I'm doing a nightclub act in a great club and I'm just working as opposed to just lying down and being dead and feeling sorry for myself.

Marlayna: Oh, that's what I was going to ask you. How does it feel to be one of the last survivors of the Andy Warhol group?

Holly: Well great, I will not lay down and die! Until then I will be well, working and whatever. You know we all have been beaten up, been down, and seen hard times! But honey, you just gotta keep going. Then you know what? (At this point I am wrapped up in her advice and her intensity and conviction are conveyed in every word and I am all ears.) Not only will you keep on going, but you will laugh! Not at yourself in a derogatory way. You have to have a sense of humor, otherwise your nowhere.

At that point I decided to wrap it up and join Holly for a drink with the group from Boston. It was a memorable evening and the next time you hear those catchy lines that go, "Hey Babe, take a walk on the wild side." Remember that Holly is still with us and that is a blessing in itself. The topping on the cake is that her career is taking off and her new show at "Club Checca" gets the ten high heel rating. The club is located at 7323 W. Santa Monica Blvd in West Hollywood. Call (213) 933-8610 for the show and the dinner number is (213) 850-7471.

Tableau Vivant

TABLEAU VIVANT

By-Miss Tasha LaBlush

Ernest Hemingway was stroking my long, smooth nyloned legs... "Such beautiful legs you have, Tasha, may I kiss the arch of your foot?" Without waiting for an answer he bends over and gently kisses the arch of my left foot which is stretched out across his lap.

I'm thinking; does Jon-Jon see this? But, wait a minute this isn't the fabulous Queen Mary, I'm in New York City and this is Edelweiss where it's O.K. to "touch" and clubs are open until 4 a.m.!

Sitting at the table with me were the famous Mistress Belle de Jour and my hostess from Long Island the gregarious Goddess Angelica. We had been downstairs dancing and had moved to a quieter spot at a table upstairs. Like a gentleman, Ernest, buys a drink for the table and reaches down to put my other leg and spike-heeled foot into his lap. So...he must know Belle very well so his advances are acceptable to me. Besides, I'm just visiting The City for 11 days of shopping and decadence and Ernest is saying all the things a sexy queen loves to hear.

Ernest is now stroking both of my legs and Goddess Angelica is grabbing my ass which is encased in a tight shiny blue latex mini skirt. It's a very nice feeling to be the white stuff in an oreo, Baby.

April in New York City and it snows? Not that kind sweetie dahlink! Mother Natures said yes one more time. I loved it. So romantic. The weary New Yorkers were bitchin'. It's amazing how warm a wig can keep a silly ding-a-ling from California! Ernest is still buying and another guy comes over to our table striking up a conversation with Belle.

Many of you drag dolls of the night know the drill: the later wears the evening the more pressure a guy puts on you to make "The Decision." Will you leave with him?...will he leave with you?...or, will you and both of your friends leave with him? Ernest, you rogue and raconteur!

Goddess Angelica, whispers into my ear,

"Tasha, what do you want to do with this guy...you want me to get rid of him for you?"

By now amorous Ernest is kissing my painted toes and I find out he doesn't even know Belle except from tonight. Shit, merde...but the fourth gin and sin is kicking in, Baby...and is hard for the blonde girl in the white girdle and pink panties to make up her mind.

"He's so nice, Angelica, and I like his writing. You know, sometimes a fish is just a fish, and a fisherman is just a fisherman." Angelica thinks I'm nuts and Belle is still busy with her new friend.

It's ol' Ernest that fucks up by telling me it's getting late and it's time for me to make up my mind. Oh Baby, that sounds like an ultimatum even inside my swishy head. Leaning over to Angelica, who is after all my hostess, I tell her, "Dust him, Baby." And she does...

New York City really buries the old fun-meter to the max. My dominant femme fatale friends and I caught Blake Edward's "Victor/Victoria" with Julie Andrews on Broadway. I simply loved the movie and even though the stage production misses Robert Preston and a few snowflakes in Paris, it still delivers up more laughs, costumes, and musical numbers than Notre Dam stained glass. Rachel York is so killer as ditsy Norma Jean Cassidy; there are actually magical moments of spontaneous applause from the audience.

Only one other woman ever looked as good as Julie Andrews in a tux (the Blue Angel herself). My favorite scene was when Julie (Victor) and Norma Jean do a ostentatious tango. Sweetie dahlinks, go see this production if you get the chance and be sure to do Victoria proud!

Another place I should share with you lovely reader is a restaurant on the lower East Side called Lucky Cheng's. The big draw here isn't the oriental fare but rather the waitresses; all of them are transgender or drag queens. The food is expensive but there is a "Drag Race" hosted by Miss Understood, downstairs at eight and ten.

Other places in New York City that cater to the tranny scene are: Jackie 60 on 14th St., Hellfire on 9th Ave., Karalyn's Oasis on 10th Ave., Limelight on 20th St., Sally's Hideaway on 43rd St., and The Vault on 10th Ave. You wanna know somthin' Babe?...there's still only one Queen Mary in California, oh but I doth wax sentimental. Catch ya' next time, Baby!

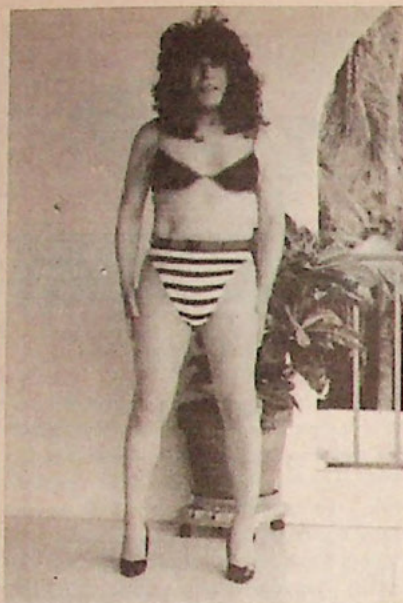

Love, Sin and Gin,

Miss Tasha LaBlush

P.S. Thanks again to my dear friends Belle, Angelica and Roland for putting up with this silly queen in New York. Oh yeah, case you're wondering, I call all guys with a beard ('cept Tennessee) Ernest Hemingway..Ha!

A lot of us take life for granted and we don't really think about the fact that what is here today may not be here tomorrow. Even though I really haven't thought much about it until the last few years when I looked around and realized that a bunch of my close friends are no longer around. It's bad enough in the transgendered community that people go in and out of the closet so much, but when you start looking around for friends that have worked together to help to accomplish things for the community and next thing you know they are gone. Whether it be from violence, disease or just old age, it's hard to believe that they are gone. It really makes you start to think just how important it is to take quality time and spend it with those that you really care about.

I like to share a little about a few of these people in the community that touched my life and helped me to really see that there was a real need for people who get involved and work in the community. They helped make it grow to what it is today and to have a vision to where we are going to go in the future.

Ellen Summers was one of my correspondents when I first came out in the early eighties and got more involved in the community. We wrote for about eight years and exchange cards and pictures. The first time I met her was at the "1989 IFGE Convention" in San Francisco I walked in to the hotel and she welcomed me and realized that this was the person she had been writing for so long. At that convention we had a chance to talk and get to know each other better and became good friends. She encouraged me to get more involved in the community. Even though we lived so far apart we saw each other at several of the conventions around the country and I got involved working on the awards committee, Ellen was the chairperson.

I was elected to the "IFGE Board" and served for three years with Ellen and others on the board who were working to make changes and improvements happen to help the community to grow. At the 1994 convention in Portland, Ellen was awarded the "Virginia Prince Award" to honor her for all the work she had accomplished in the many years she had been working in the community. It made me really proud to say we were good friends and she helped me really get involved. In the spring of 1994 she passed away, it was a time for great sadness. We had become good friends exchanging Christmas and birthday cards along with writing each other all those years and then seeing each other at several of the conventions. I guess we always wonder was there something I wanted to say or do for her, but now I can share the memory with others about a friend who really cared.

In March of 1993 I went to Honolulu, Hawaii to attend the "BoArt Ball" and the "Universal Show Queen Pageant." A number of my friends were participating in the pageants and there were a lot of others who had been involved in the pageants for a number of years. One of these people was Alona Keller, she was born and raised in Hawaii and got involved in the early beauty pageants. She was a winner of many of the Hawaiian pageants and a participant in the "Miss Continental Pageant" in the mid to late eighties. She had been a performer at the "Baton Show Lounge" for many years and had moved to New York City. She had come back to Hawaii to visit and participate in the pageants. I met her for the first time at the "BoArt Ball" and the next night at the "Universal

Show Queen Pageant," when I was dressed. I wasn't dressing during the day. Nearly everyday we were going to the beach and going out to different places. On Thursday night they had decided to go to the "Tropicals" a Hawaiian bar. I had got a sun burn so I decided to go as a guy. Everything went fine until my friend Zo Ann mentioned to Alona and the others, "You should see what she is going to wear to the preliminary pageant Saturday night." You should have seen their faces. None of them had realized I was a crossdresser. Saturday we went to "Garbos" for the pageants. I let Zo Ann off and went to find a parking place. I had on a blue sequin gown and red hair, and I walked in to the club and went up to the front and was talking to some of my friends. All the sudden, I noticed a crowd of people over by the stairway looking over at me. At the brake in the pageant they served food upstairs so I went up and got some. I was going to go back downstairs and eat but Alona said if I wanted to stay upstairs I could. So I sat down and ate and we took pictures afterwards. I saw Alona several times that year I went to the "Miss Continental Pageant" in Chicago over Labor Day Weekend, and Alona was there with her contestant. We all rented apartments with kitchens and we cooked and had Hawaiian dinners. The first night I was there we went to the "Baton Show Lounge." They were sold out for the show, but Alona saw us and talked Ginger in to letting us in. Alona was taking me around introducing me to a number of the contestants. It was really great, we were all going out on the town and checking out some of the other bars. It was a really wonderful experience and Alona and I became good friends. We talked on the phone several times after that and I went back to New York City for New Years. Alona had promised to spend New Years with her boyfriend, but when she heard I was in town she arranged to have the night before New Years Eve to go out to dinner and to one of the clubs with me to spend some time together. We talked a lot and she had mentioned that the next year she would like to come out to Los Angeles and go to the "Tournament of Roses Parade." I told her if she was serious that I would be glad to give them a place to stay and we could go up to the parade together. I took her home that night and the next day she went up to visit her boyfriend in Upstate New York. I went to the New Years Eve party, and I talked to Alona several times after that. I wasn't able to go to the "Universal Show Queen" that year, but in May Zo Ann called me and told me Alona was killed in her home. Somebody came to her door and when she answered the door they shot her to death. Nothing was ever found out about who did it, but it was another big loss in my life. Here was someone who was working hard and had done well in there life, and was reaching out and helping others, and it was all gone with one shot of a gun.

Another person who traveled my life was Jennifer Richards. She was really involved in "St Louis Gender Alliance" and I saw her at a number of conventions, always working and helping. She had been involved for years and was one of the people who helped to get the "Fall Harvest Convention" going. She came out to Los Angeles to visit Jim Bridges a couple times and we became friends in 1994. In Portland she did the presentation for the "Trenity Awards" and she asked me to assist her with the presentation. I had heard she had Aids, but she was a real worker. She worked hard to get the "Fall Harvest Convention" to come to St. Louis. Some people believe that she held on until the "Fall Harvest Convention" was held. A few weeks later she passed away. It really makes you think about life.

So many times we hide in ourselves and put off dealing with ourselves, much less dealing with other people. If anything is to be learned from this we need to realize that there is no guarantees. We could be here tomorrow and our loved ones or friends could be the ones who are gone. So take advantage of every chance you have to open up and learn more about yourself and your friends.

There is a lot out there. We can learn and grow in ourselves and have a good life. There are many other friends who have passed on and others who have survived and are still working. It makes me feel good that I was a part of their lives so that I can pass on the good things in life to others who are struggling in life.

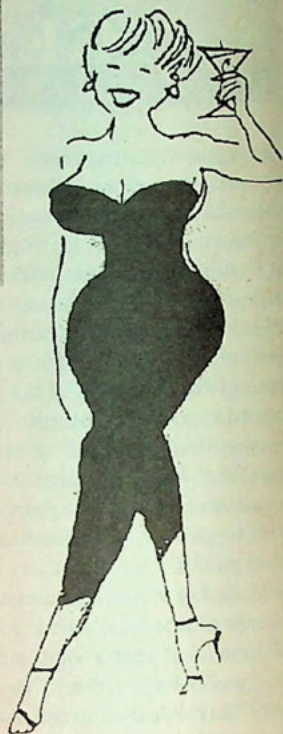

Take care and if you have any questions or I can be of any help drop me a line.

“FIRST” TUESDAY

Ladies, every Tuesday night is “drag night” at “Tommy Tangs.”

If it's Tuesday night it must be time to get all dolled up and hit the Hollywood 101 FWY. Find the Melrose Avenue exit then find 7313 Melrose and then valet park your wheels. Dining in “drag” is the way to go and what better place than “Tommy's.” My “T” Party is an open affair and as you can tell from the photos, a lot of fun.

This evening I hit the Sunset Blvd exit as I was picking up my dear friend Alexis DeLavega. This New York “diva” is part of the ex-skirted New Yorker's who flew into “LAX.” We took a few minutes to talk about the evening's plans and then I admired her many photos of, you guessed it, Marlene Dietrich. Alexis impersonates her and has a long history on the New York stage.

This evening we had a cable crew from the New York based, “Popcorn Channel.” I held up a TV Epic and told them about the parties and then Douglas Lee Long and Fresca Vinyl appeared on the scene. Dragging along who else but the notorious Robert “Phylis Diller” Sanford.

The duck dinner is the best and after a desert we headed over to see Holly Woodlawn at “Club Checca.” Alexis and Holly are friends from way back and performed together. If it's Tuesday it is dining and drag at “Tommy Tangs,” and I will see you there.

Your dinner will be coming right up!

Showing off my new look and "DO" from Jim Bridges.

The West Coast's longest running "fetish" party.

Mistress Sophia Fox is Marlayna's "special guest."

FANTASY Fashion Fetish NIGHT

Marlayna Lacie

Presents

"Fantasy Fashion Fetish Night"
(Fourth Saturday of every Month)

12449 Ventura Boulevard
Studio City, California
(818) 506-5619

"Hey Deana, I need a stiff one!"

Miss Marla working it!

Captain Sid gets his "camera time."

Katie Keegan has made a name for herself.

Santa Monica Sharon kicking back between "rounds."

It's Joni Deere back on the scene.

This evening my special guest was the oh so sexy and sensually charming Mistress Sophia Fox. The club was SRO (standing room only) as guests trekked in from all over the Southland. Did anyone get spanked and did a select few be thanked for some kinky verlinky attention. Of course, and if you were not there you missed the show.

Your truly and my twisted sister in heels, Miss Marla put out a tasty batch of snacks and treats. Then it was "cameratime" and a night of fetish fantasies.

Every month you can head down to the corner of Ventura and Whitsett in Studio City.

The party is open to all, but we do ask that you wear your funkiest and finest "fetish" fashions and accessories. This month's party is on the 22nd and I shall look forward to meeting you.

"Big Liya Quest."

Redhead on the loose.

Hey Gina, so nice to see you dear.

MARLAYNA LACIE

Yes, there are complimentary copies of TV Epic for you.

TV Epic's own Melissa Foster.

Candice and Ms. Katie looking Hot to Trot!

Richard occasionally sings "live" and is superb.

ON THE SCENE NIGHT

Lovely lady new to the club.

Marlayna and Jim Bridges heading for the dance floor.

She is dangerous on the dance floor!

This evening was the "Red Velvet Dress Night" and many ladies did just that. Ms. Toni called me earlier in the week and asked me about the party. It would be her "first" time out and she was looking forward to the evening. Well, she wore a real sexy red dress and as promised she was my "special guest" for the evening, Jim Bridges dropped by and Melissa Foster was on the scene.

Special thanks to all who attended and we shall see you at the "Big Party" this month. Also muchos gracias to "Versatile Fashions" for donating the door prizes for this and all my "Queen Mary" parties.

Looking lovely as ever, Doll!

Cute blonde in middle here for "first" time from Chicago.

Hey Sandy, looking good honey!
