

Wedding night disaster —for the registrar

from Theodore Levite

TO HIGHLY romantic and attractive Suad Shaheen, 20, it felt like a dream come true when she married 29-year-old Mohamed Saleh at a Cairo register office.

But on the wedding night the bride was shocked to discover that her bridegroom was in fact a woman named Bahira Tolba, herself married and mother of two children.

An investigation by the police revealed that Mrs Tolba frequently donned men's clothes and posed as a jeweller under her adopted name.

And who is in jail as a result of this strange incident? The registrar—with the police explaining that he should have known better long before the bride realised the deception.

The Standard

11/4/35